Langhe Nebbiolo DOC 2021

SKU 427650 | 12x750 ml | Spec | $26.99 Wholesale

From 0.8ha between two crus, Marcarini and Casot, both with the commune of Treiso, at 350m. The oldest vines were planted in 1980 and the youngest in 2012. Marcarini is exposed to the southeast whereas Casot faces southwest.

Primarily from Marcarini, from parcels designated for this bottling, or from young vines, or declassified Barbaresco (sometimes a combination of all 3!). Those parcels designated for this cuvée usually picked a few days earlier than those parcels designated for Barbaresco.

The three towns of what is now a DOCG are Treiso, Neive, and Barbaresco. They form a triangle: Barbaresco in the west, Neive in the east, and Treiso—the smallest in acreage and highest in elevation—in the south. Innately, Barbaresco and Treiso lean toward elegance while Neive can pack more power and structure.

Tasting Note

The color is ruby red with orange reflections. Rich and lively, yet pliable, this red delivers cherry, liquorice, tar and light herbal flavours, all balanced with the structure. Complex and persistent on the dry finish.

Winery Information

Located in Treiso, the Nada Giuseppe property, now farmed by Enrico Nada, has two main cru sites. Casot is a south and southeast-facing plot with layers of blue and grey tufo soils between sand. The estate comprises 9 hectares of vines, much of which was bought from the grandfather of Angelo Gaja. The Casot vineyards are adjacent to those that are used in Gaja's Barbaresco. The Nada Family has been making wine here since the 1960s. Farming at this estate is certified organic since 2017.
