Winery Story

Four generations of winegrowers have succeeded on this estate since 1935. This traditionally-styled winery is now run by the two brothers, Jean-Claude and Philippe Lambert and his son, Matthieu. Both complementary and conniving, they share the same values: respect of the soil, respect of the vines. They work tirelessly to craft elegant wines that are a true expression of this wonderful terroir.

Everything starts in the vineyard, that's why they switched to organic farming. It is of course the love of this land and the passion for their vineyards that led the Lambert family, after careful management of the vineyard, to gradually convert the whole field into certified organic farming since 2010.

The Vineyards

It is on the edge of the Sablet hillsides that the vines of this Côtes du Rhône extend. The light, sandy soil brings freshness to the vines and guarantees them optimum ripeness. The 20-year-old vines have a low yield, thus ensuring a beautiful concentration of aromas.

Wine Profile

This Cotes du Rhone is a plump, round, joyful expression of Grenache. Black Cherries dominate, but there is enough herbal complexity to suggest garrigue, and hints of espresso add depth to the finish. This is a terrific bargain from a modest, family-run and certified organically farmed estate.

75% Grenache, 25% Syrah | Vinified in concrete tanks
