Reviews

92 Points - Owen Bargreen: "The 2018 'Famiglia' Pinot Noir is entirely sourced from the Chelahem Mountains AVA and is a blend of Pommard, 828, 777 and 115 clonal selections. Cran-ornage and shades of pomegranate seed with dusty terroir all fill the nose. The palate is smooth with a great sense of mouthfeel and light dusting of salinity. Layers of bright and sour red fruits collide with Mandarin orange zest and shades of peat moss on the palate. Delightful to enjoy in its youth, this outstanding wine will cellar well over the next decade. Drink 2020-2030." -Aug 2020

92 Points - James Suckling: "This makes an assertive impression with earthy and gently meaty nuances, across rich dark fruit. The palate has a smooth, juicy core of plush, pastry-like tannins and a silky, dark-cherry finish. Drink or hold." -Jan 2020

91 Points - Vinous -Feb 2022

Winery Information

We are rooted in building from the ground up- first with the planting of my father in laws vineyard in 1998, then the creation of Bergstrom Wines in 1999 and next , the planting of our own vineyard. The experience gained in these early years led us to the creation of our brand de Lancellotti Family Vineyards in 2005.

The beginning years opened our eyes to biodynamic farming- a holistic practice of farming used for generations in the premiere vineyards around the world, but one that is largely misunderstood until you have spent a lifetime in vineyards. Attention to detail starts in a farm.

Today, de Lancellotti wines are a result of fruit sourced from some of the finest vineyards in Oregon, hand selected and intentionally farmed throughout the year.

Simply put, farming great vineyards and sourcing the finest pinot noir and chardonnay is our passion.
